The men at battle ready above are moving in a rubber boat through a Florida swamp, but they are loaded for Viet Cong. Officers and men from many different units, they are students at a training school for guerrilla warfare operated by the Army's Ranger Department on acres of trackless wilderness at Eglin Air Force Base. Practical experience teaches them the techniques of fighting guerrillas on their own ground in counter-insurgency operations such as U.S. forces are stepping up in the jungles of Viet Nam. They learn to take full advantage of dense undergrowth in hunting down snipers, right. At left, a flare pierces the black night sky as they learn to round up small bands of guerrillas dropped behind their lines. Below left, two students light an arrow of gasoline-soaked branches to guide night fighter-bombers to an enemy target. And they learn to make sure that dead guerrillas are really dead, below right, and to construct makeshift wooden cages to hold prisoners. The grueling course lasts 17 days during which students are assured of a grand total of 12 hours sleep. It's compulsory for all junior grade regular Army officers and is open to all other officers and top non-coms.

Long Helped First Woman Senator

By WAYMAN DUNLAP
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Thirty-four years ago today this state climaxed a political campaign that had brought out farmers, businessmen, children and hill people to see an unusual two-some on a stump tour that knew no bounds.

Mrs. Hattie Caraway was elected U.S. Senator on Jan. 12, 1932, with the help of the "Kingfish," Huey Long of Louisiana. Long came complete with sound truck, campaign signs, slogans, balloons for the kiddies — the works — and the pair walked away with the election for Mrs. Caraway after a campaign that had drawn national attention.

Mrs. Caraway, who had served the remaining two months of the unexpired term of her late husband, Sen. Thaddeus Caraway, decided at the last minute to make a bid for a complete term of her own when the special election was called by Gov. Harvey Parnell.

Her opposition included a half dozen of the state's most powerful politicians — among them former Gov. Charles H. Brough and Supreme Court Justice W. F. Kirby.

Long joined her in what he described as lending a helping hand to a friend.

It was the first opportunity for him to try his "share the wealth" doctrine outside his own state, and politicians figure that Mrs. Caraway's election helped the Kingfish in his bid for national attention.

For several days Long took Mrs. Caraway on an 11th hour statewide speaking tour drawing huge crowds that came as much to see the Kingfish — a real show on the campaign stump, scribes of that area tell us — as anything else.

The Tin aAmbassador Class of the Garrett Memorial Church will meet Tuesday night, January 18 at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Olin Purtle.

Wednesday, January 19
The Brookwood P T A Study Group will meet in the home of Mrs. Charles Stone Wednesday the 19th from 2 to 3 p.m. The discussion will be concerning the traffic problems on Spruce and 5th Streets. Local officer Carl Ward will be guest of the group.

The John Cain Chapter, DAR, will have a business meeting at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, January 19 at the Heritage House. Delegates to Conference will be elected, and all reports will be due. Lunch will be served at noon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Paul Klipsch, Mrs. John Keck, and Mrs. J. A. Wilson. Members are asked to notify Mrs. Klipsch by Monday, January 17 if they plan to attend.

Thursday, January 20
Chapter 328, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a regular meeting in the Masonic Hall at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 20. All members are urged to attend.

Lady Golfers Plan Tournament

At a business meeting of the Ladies Golf Association Thursday, January 13 at the Hope Country Club members were asked to begin thinking about a Golf Association Tournament this spring and to participate in the State Tournament when it is held. Dues were paid, and the new PGA rules were discussed.

After the business session, coffee and cookies were served. The members then painted new markers for the ladies' tees. A sack lunch was served at noon, and afterwards an 18-hole tournament was held. Two members from Lewisville were the winners: Mrs. Albert Bray, low net, and Mrs. Walter Wilson, low gross.

Bynum Files for Representative

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Ben Bynum of Dermott and R. E. (Gene) Flanagan of Forrest City filed Thursday as candidates for state representative.

Bynum, 45, filed for re-election in District 44 (Chicot County). Bynum has represented Chicot County for 20 years.

Flanagan, 51, a builder and lumber dealer, filed for Position 2, District 27, which is at Francis County.

Mrs. Caraway and Long spurned the obvious political aspect of recent "widowhood" votes. They chose to run on her merits, although some said having Huey Long on her side was quite an asset. Her platform was based on "personal ability," the "people's interest," and, somewhat incongruously, her "liberal views."

Mrs. Caraway had such resounding success that when she ran for a second term in 1938 against then-Congressman John L. McClellan, she polled a majority of 4,321 votes.

McClellan was eventually elected to the Senate in 1942 when Sen. John E. Miller resigned to accept a federal judgeship.

Although on May 9, 1962, she became the first woman ever to wield the gavel in the Senate, she could not claim the distinction of being the nation's first woman senator.

A Georgia woman, Rebecca Latimer Felton, was appointed to fill an unexpired Senate term in 1922.

Mrs. Caraway was eventually defeated by J. William Fulbright in 1941 but President Franklin Roosevelt, a long time friend, appointed her to a position on the Federal Employees Compensation Board. She served on the board until her resignation a few weeks before her death on Dec. 21, 1950, at age 72.

George Lively, Jr. returned home from a business trip to Lybia on Saturday.

Riley Vickers came home Wednesday after being a patient in the VA Hospital in Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Maddox, Hot Springs, spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Don Johnson, Mr. Johnson, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Routon and Al Page flew to Little Rock Monday morning and plan to return to Hope shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Hunt and children of Dallas spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hunt.

THE WELL CHILD® Knock-Knees Common In Overweight Children

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Children under three years of age often have knock-knees. This is due to a weakness in the muscles of the inner aspect of their knees. The Germans refer to these as "X" legs in contrast to "O" legs when the bowing is outward.

Knock-knees are especially common in infants who are overweight or flat-footed. They cause the child to walk awkwardly and to stumble a lot. Fortunately, unless the child has rickets, which may cause an inward bowing but more commonly causes outward bowing, his knees will become stronger with walking and the legs will straighten out.

The treatment is directed at the cause (rickets, overweight or flat feet). Exercises for flat feet, such as picking up marbles with the toes and teaching the child to walk on his heels and to walk heel to toe, are recommended. If the condition persists after the child is five and is severe enough to be considered a handicap, he may have to wear braces for several months. As a last resort the legs may have to be straightened surgically.

Q—My son, 8, had rheumatic fever about 20 months ago and developed chorea. What causes chorea? Is there any cure for it? Should he be allowed to attend school?

A—The rheumatic fever was the cause of the chorea (St. Vitus's dance). Treatment of the rheumatic fever and the prevention of a recurrence with antibiotics is more important than treatment of the chorea. Chorea is usually outgrown in time but bouts of rheumatic fever can seriously damage the heart.

Your son will need more rest than the average child of his age and emotional strains should be avoided within reason. Your doctor may want to give him small doses of reserpine or chlorpromazine for awhile. He should be allowed and encouraged to attend school but both you and his teachers must show him more than average patience.

Q—Are the roundworms you wrote about in a recent column the same as pinworms? My daughter got them four years ago playing with some puppies. Will piperazine cure them?

A—They are not the same. The mature roundworm (ascaris) is six or seven inches long but the mature pinworm (enterobius or oxyuris) is only about one-half-inch long. Contrary to popular opinion dogs do not have these worms. Piperazine is effective against both kinds of worm.

With only nine tables of experts at work you would expect that the bidding and play of many hands in the championship team trials would be identical.

This was not the case. In fact it wasn't until deal eight of round four that any hand produced nearly the same treatment at all tables.

Every West opened with one spade. Each felt the hand was too strong for a weak two or preemptive three opening, and that the trump suit was not good enough for a four bid.

Every North doubled and every South responded two hearts. It is noteworthy that the Souths preferred the good four-card heart suit to the bad five-card diamonds.

The West players all rebid to two spades and at this point there was a parting of the ways. Seven North players overbid a trifle and jumped to four hearts, the other two made the conservative bid of three hearts.

This caused a real split among their two partners. One went to four hearts, the other passed at three and in all instances the bidding stopped.

The play at all tables was identical. West always opened the ace of spades and continued the suit in the hope that his partner would be able to ruff.

Dummy would win with the king and each declarer would lead a heart to his ace and then lead a diamond toward dummy. No one was willing to pull trumps right away because that play might lose control of the hand.

Once this line of play was adopted, there was no way to keep declarer from making 10 tricks. West could take his ace of diamonds right away or hold off once. In either instance South would lose only two diamonds and a spade.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

What This Country Needs. . .
Dear Helen: What this country needs is a good five-cent greeting card for other occasions than Christmas.

How come you get pretty nice Christmas cards in boxes of 21 for less than a dollar, but just TRY to get a birthday card, sympathy cards, what have you, for less than 15 cents each. Occasionally you can find a crummy one for 10 cents, but more often they're 25. Now, if they can make Holiday Greeting cards for less, why not the other kind? MAD

Dear Mad: Good question. Maybe mass production is the answer — companies can afford less profit on Christmas cards because they sell so many of them. Another answer people in our "affluent society" actually seem to enjoy paying more for less — especially if the price is printed in plain sight on the back of the card. — H.

Dear Helen: If they can make car radios that come on strong the minute you turn the car key, why don't they make car heaters likewise? I'm tired of shivering for ten miles! — Cold

Dear Cold: Please! Ask your friendly neighborhood service station man. My trouble-shooting is for families, not family cars. — H.

Dear Helen: You seem to be the only person I can turn to without jeopardizing my reputation of self-respect. I'll make it brief. My fiancé and I are recent college graduates. We received many honors, and both made the Dean's List.

He put himself through college and intends to do the same for the next four years of professional graduate school. I have been given a grant for graduate study at a noted university about 60 miles from his proposed school. We aren't youngsters, and we know we will eventually marry, but presently marriage is out of the question both because of finances and distance.

Our love is deep and strong and we see no reason why it shouldn't be fulfilled, with or without marriage but we have restrained ourselves because we don't want to hurt our parents, the possibility of my becoming pregnant, and also because of gossip and loss of reputation.

How long these considerations will hold us back is impossible to say. Talking to a clergyman is a help. What we want to know is where can an unmarried girl go for advice and a prescription for a 100 per cent effective contraceptive? — K. T.

Dear K: If this was ALL you wanted to know, you'd be consulting a doctor, not me. (And he'd tell you that, human error being what it is, there's no such thing as a 100 per cent effective birth control measure, especially for uneasy unmarrieds.)

Your whole letter shouts the questions you avoid asking. Is an affair the only way? And will it work out? Answers to both are: Probably not. You can manage a long-distance marriage better than you can survive a long-distance love affair — and cheaper too (think of the motel bills you'll save).

The reasons (for people of your upbringing and high ideals) are totally obvious and you already named them in your letter.

Ask yourselves two more questions: Is there any real reason why your fiancé can't transfer to YOUR university? And — pooling expenses — why can't you be wed and educated too? Others have. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Porkers Beat Texas; A&M Undelected

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M, sporting a 4-0 record and the conference leadership, goes to Austin Tuesday night for a battle with the Texas Longhorns in one of two Southwest Conference games this week.

In the other game, Southern Methodist will be at Lubbock for a statewide televised game with Texas Tech, the pre-season favorite.

The Aggies came up with two key victories last week as they edged the Arkansas Razorbacks, 75-72 at College Station and then drubbed a cold shooting Baylor five 81-0 at Waco Saturday.

Arkansas beat Texas Saturday 82-82 at Fayetteville and Texas Tech overcame a stubborn Midwestern team to win 102-88 at Lubbock Saturday night.

Arkansas evened its conference record with the win over the Longhorns and at 2-2 are a game behind idle Texas Christian, which moved into second place with a 2-1 conference mark.

John Beasley scored 43 points in leading the Aggies to their win at Waco Saturday. The Aggies led 36-31 at halftime and then boosted their lead to win going away.

Arkansas used the shooting of Tommy Rowland and the rebounding of John Talkingan Saturday for their victory over the Longhorns.

Dub Malone, Bob Glover and Vernon Paul paced Texas Tech to their non-conference victory over Midwestern Saturday night. The game was close during the first half as the lead changed six times and the score was tied seven times.

Texas Tech hit a torrid 59 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Big Charger Players Go to Houston

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Expansion was the No. 1 topic at the American Football League meetings today after a long weekend of house-cleaning in which nine players, including San Diego's mammoth Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, were shipped to new locations.

The kickoff was the Ladd-Faison trade, with the two all-league defensive standouts sent to Houston in a five-player deal considered the biggest in AFL history and accompanied by one of the league's biggest fuses.

In addition to Ladd and Faison, San Diego Coach Sid Gillman gave the Oilers a piece of his mind for "tampering" while accepting three players in exchange — linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive end Gary Cutsinger and cornerback Pete Jaquess.

The multi-player trade was announced Saturday during the second period of the AFL All-Stars' 30-19 victory over Buffalo while Ladd and Faison still were playing. Then on Sunday, San Diego lost tight end Dave Kocourke, a second team All-AFL selection.

Kocourke, Buffalo fullback Billy Joe, quarterback Eddie Wilson of Boston and New York linebacker Wahoo McDaniell were selected by the Miami Dolphins as the first of 32 veteran players they will receive under the AFL stocking formula.

With the first of the expected player shifts made, attention focused on the league owners, who had expansion listed as the main item on the official agenda. Preliminary discussions were started with an eye toward expansion to a 10th team for the 1967 season.

Heading the list of franchise applicants were Chicago, Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif.; Washington, D.C.; Milwaukee, Portland, Ore., and Phoenix, Ariz. It was expected that if a decision could not be reached the list would at least be pared.

The Dolphins, who become operational as the ninth team this year, are expected to name four more of their selections today.

Under the stocking plan, the existing eight teams freeze 23 players' last touchdown, linebacker from each team. Each of the existing clubs then freeze another er player and the Dolphins make two additional selections, winding up with four players from each team.

However, the stocking of the Dolphins by the Ladd-Faison deal and Gillman's blast at Houston Owner Bud Adams for making inflammatory monetary statements that affected San Diego's bargaining position.

The 6-foot-9, 295-pound Ladd and 6-5, 270-pound Faison both had publicly expressed discontent with Gillman's reign as coach and general manager and announced they were playing out their options.

Gillman, in turn, said he would not have such players on his team. So it came as somewhat of a surprise when he issued his blast Saturday saying: "When an owner makes a statement to the press that he is interested in such-and-such a player and will give a certain amount of money, that's tampering. Those kind of offers made our bargaining position impossible."

Adams, who recently said he had offered the Chargers three players plus $100,000 for Ladd alone, said that Gillman had initiated the trade talks.

"Gillman is just mad because he is losing two all-league players," Adams said. "He came to us during the exhibition season and first mentioned a trade involving Faison or Ladd or both."

Alworth Gets Two TDs in AFL Game

HOUSTON (AP) — It was probably lucky for the AFL All-Stars that San Diego's Lance Alworth made the line-up against the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League All-Star game.

Alworth pulled down two touchdown passes of 43 and 10 yards from New York Jet rookie Joe Namath in the All-Stars' 30-19 victory over the favored league champion Bills Saturday.

Up until the first day of the All-Stars' workouts the week before the game, indications were that Alworth wouldn't play because of a rib injury. His name didn't even appear on the official game roster.

But Coach Sid Gillman, the All-Star coach from San Diego, finally agreed early in the week to let Alworth play after the team physician gave his approval.

By a fourth quarter scoring drought which produced only four points, fell by the wayside, 58-42, after three full quarters of nip and tuck action with the Arkadelphia Badgers.

It was the fifth loss against six this season for the Cats who saw their district record slump to 1-3.

Trailing by one going into the fatal fourth period, Hope began to sag. Ronnie Ingram started the scoring in the final quarter with a driving jump shot from close in to put the Bobcats out in front 40-39.

But it was the last time Hope led all night for that short lead slowly faded into the driest shooting period of the entire season. For the next four minutes the Bobcats tried vainly to score against a fierce Badger full court press.

There was just over three minutes left in the game before Hope got on the board again this time on an outside jump shot by Dennis Ramsey, which only served to pull the Cats to within nine points of Arkadelphia.

The remainder of the game was played on the Badger end of the court as the clock ticked off the last few minutes of an Arkadelphia stall.

The final period was not however typical of the entire game which promised a tight finish after three full quarters of lead swapping and close play.

The score was deadlocked 10-10 after the first quarter but the Badgers went ahead by two on a long desperation shot as the buzzer sounded to end the half.

Ingram was high point for the Bobcats with 17 to his credit followed by Ramsey who had 14. Stan Parris sacked for 6, Bobby McGill and Eddie Aslin for 2, and Larry May for 1.

The Bobkittens met an even worse fate in the night's warm up game as they were smothered by Arkadelphia, 41-22. Things never looked bright for the Kittens who trailed the entire game.

Ricky Putman led the losers with 10 points. Terry Turner had 4, Ronnie Brown 3, Jimmy Singleton and Jerry Don McWilliams 2 and Danny Reyenga had a single free throw.

Alworth later was reported not seriously hurt. Namath's name came up again and again after the game. He was named the All-Star Bowl's outstanding back.

Just Typical Day in Pro Cage Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain got sick, Bill Russell got hurt and the Cincinnati Royals got scared. All in all it was a typical day in the National Basketball Association's tension-packed Eastern Division.

Chamberlain, who was stricken with food poisoning after eating Saturday night, watched from the bench, and Russell bruised a shoulder but not before making his presence felt as Boston beat Philadelphia 137-122 Sunday afternoon.

The Royals came from behind and then had Detroit almost turn the table on them before edging the Pistons 108-106 for their 11th victory in their last 12 starts.

After the smoke cleared, Boston still led the East by one-half game over Cincinnati while Philadelphia was four games back of the Celtics.

St. Louis beat Baltimore 136-128 in another afternoon game. Second-year man Lucious Jackson took over for Chamberlain against Russell, and scored only 11 points while Russell scored 19, got 14 rebounds and blocked several shots before going out late in the third period with the bruised shoulder.

Clay Hires Joe Louis to Help Him

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, unbeaten in his 22 pro fights, has hired Joe Louis to work with him "because it's time Joe was with a winner."

The former heavyweight king will have plenty of chances to be with a winner said Clay in announcing that he hopes to have four title fights this year. He said No. 1 may be announced by Tuesday.

"I want the first one within 10 weeks to three months," said Clay, who celebrated his 24th birthday today.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, named Doug Jones of New York, Ernie Terrell of Chicago, George Chuvalo of Toronto and England's Brian London as the four possible opponents for this year, adding that Jones "is the most likely at this time."

The champion announced the hiring of Louis "for training and advising" and his fight plans in accepting the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as Fighter of the Year. Louis sat next to him at the Boxing Writers Association's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Sunday night.

Golden Hawk Feathering His Nest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's Golden Hawk is feathering his nest while Detroit's Red Wings, led by hot-shot Norm Ullman, are homing in on first place in the three-team National Hockey League pennant scramble.

Bobby Hull stepped up his drive for an NHL goal-scoring record Sunday night with a four-goal flurry against New York that flurried Black Hawks who saw their slump against the Hawks dropped a 6-5 verdict to the Rangers. The loss, second for the Hawks in two nights, dropped them into a tie for the league lead with the Montreal Canadiens, who whipped Boston 3-1.

The Red Wings, meanwhile, rode Ullman's hat trick and the goaltending of Roger Crozier to a 4-0 triumph over Toronto that lifted them within one point of the leaders. Detroit, unbeaten in its last six starts, has lost only four times in 20 home games this season.

Ullman, an 11-year veteran who led the circuit with 42 goals last season, is the Wings' home-ice ringleader. His second hat trick of the campaign gave him a total of 22 goals and 18 of them have been scored at Detroit.

It took two goalies, starter Cesare Maniago and masked Don Simmons, to hold off a one-man comeback by Hull, who fired three goals in the final period for a career total of 300. With 36 in the Hawks' 37 games this season, he needs 15 more to crack the single-season record he shares with ex-Montreal star Maurice Richard and Boom Boom Geoffrion.

Simmons came on after Hull's fourth goal and stopped Chicago 49-47 as Bob Wilson tossed in a 15-foot jump shot at the final buzzer.

Wildcats Take the Sting Out of Vanderbilt

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Adolph Rupp took the transition out of Kentucky's stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid and the sting out of Vanderbilt's attack.

As a result, second-ranked Kentucky defeated third-ranked Vanderbilt 96-83 Saturday and extended its unbeaten basketball victory string to 12.

The loss, only the Commodores' second in 16 games, came after Vanderbilt built a 13-lead in the first five minutes. It was during that time that the Wildcats employed a 1-3-1 zone defense — or as Rupp likes to call it, a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid.

But when he saw it wasn't working, Rupp had his players change tactics. They made the transition to the man-to-man defense and slowed the Commodores the rest of the way.

The 4 year - old Rupp, the winningest active coach in college basketball, devised his 3-3-1 defense two years ago. But since he always abhorred the term zone defense, Rupp denied that it was a zone.

"We never have used the zone at Kentucky and never intend to," he said, his tongue firmly planted in his cheeks. "That was no zone. It was simply a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid."

Zone or paraboloid, the Wildcats will have the next week to work on it. They, like most of the Top Ten, are idle this week.

Others that don't play until the close of final examinations are Duke, No. 1; Vanderbilt; Providence, No. 6; Texas Western, No. 8; and UCLA, No. 9.

Duke extended its winning streak to 12, crushing Wake Forest 101-81 behind the 3-point performance of Jack Marin. The Blue Devils now are 14-1.

UCLA wasn't so fortunate. Stanford defeated the Bruins 74-9, handing the defending NCAA champions their first Pacific Athletic Conference loss after 3 straight victories. Art Harris led the host Indians with 24 points.

Brigham Young, No. 7 also was a loser among the Top Ten, dropping a 107-101 decision at Wyoming.

Providence and 10th-ranked Kansas, meanwhile, barely escaped with triumphs. Providence edged Boston College 79-77 on Jim Walker's two free throws with four seconds left while Kansas nipped Iowa State 49-47 as Bob Wilson tossed in a 15-foot jump shot at the final buzzer.

Texas Western was idle. Fifth-ranked Vanderbilt whipped Louisville 79-2 and fourth-ranked St. Joseph's edged Villanova 71-9 in a Sunday game on a field goal by Steve Donches at the buzzer.

Ellis Wins Over Casper in Playoff

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper has triumphed in 30 PGA tournaments but none exceeded the thrill of victory in Sunday's San Diego Open.

The 34-year-old Casper, veteran of 11 pro years, finally won before the home folks by blazing a trail of seven birdies for a last-round 64 and a 16-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I've always wanted to win at home," said Casper, "so this is a very gratifying victory. I worked awful hard last year but couldn't win it when I shot a 64 on the last round and tied the tournament record."

Casper and Wes Ellis of West Caldwell, N.J., fired 267s in 1965 but Ellis won on the first hole of the playoff.

This tourney was worth $40,000, and Casper's share was $5,800.

Four strokes behind in second place were Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., and Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio.

Don January, a veteran on the tour from Dallas, faltered to a 73 and 72-hole score of 273, tying for third with young Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs, Calif., who fired a par 71.

Defending champion Ellis carded a 73 in the final round after a 68-69-68-205 had kept him in contention.

Disc Brakes: How Good Are They

HOW THEY WORK: Drawing shows arrangement of typical 1966 car with disc brakes on front wheels and drum brakes on rear. Stepping on the brake pedal forces hydraulic fluid from master cylinder through the fluid line to both front and rear brake cylinders. In the drum brakes, the linings are forced outward and against the brake drum to slow the car. In the disc system, hydraulic pistons on either side of the caliper force the brake lining pads against the brake disc to slow the wheel down.

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—One of the most highly touted "safety features" on Detroit's 1966 autos are disc brakes. Foreign car manufacturers are wondering what the fuss is all about.

Many of the European car makers have used disc brakes for years without really ballyhooing the fact. They appear to be somewhat distressed to hear Detroit claiming them as a new American invention.

"What's even worse," one European car representative points out, "is that of the few American makers which are offering disc brakes, most are charging extra for them. They've always been standard equipment on almost 30 European cars."

In any case, disc brakes appear to be a major selling gimmick this year. So the obvious question is, what's wrong with the old drum brakes?

It's not that there's anything wrong with them, but proponents of the disc contend that disc brakes last longer and stop the bigger, heavier and faster cars better. Engineers at the Johns

Manville Brake Lining Division point out that the major advantage lies in the reduction of brake fade or loss of braking power in less-than-ideal conditions.

Operation of disc brakes is simple. You can demonstrate how they function by taking a sheet of paper and holding it lightly between thumb and index finger. When your fingers are loose, the paper slides easily. As you exert pressure, it becomes more and more difficult to slide the paper.

Finally, when your fingers are pressed tightly together, the paper cannot move. In effect, you have created the disc, or caliper, brake.

In standard drum brakes, on the other hand, the brake linings are forced outward from the wheel cylinder by hydraulic pressure and against the brake drum to slow the attached wheel.

Users of disc brakes report that the braking ability of the system is more consistent in normal driving and that during foul weather or when driving through deep puddles there is less loss of braking from the wetting of the disc or lining.

Disc brakes are also self-adjusting, having a lining life expectancy about 50 per cent longer than most drum brakes and are quickly and easily relined when necessary.

What this means to the average driver, under average driving conditions, is that he will have consistently uniform braking ability without fade. If he is going down a steep incline and must use his brakes constantly, he will have steady braking power all the way down.

One of the main reasons why American manufacturers have been slow to adopt disc brakes is that drum systems have demonstrated their ability to stop the car under normal driving conditions. American automakers have contended that Europeans drive their cars harder and faster and on rougher roads.

Besides, the disc system is a bit more expensive to manufacture in large quantities.

There isn't much doubt that soon Detroit will equip its behemoths with disc brakes at no extra cost. Right now, however, the potential car buyer must decide whether discs are worth the extra expense. Most auto experts would say they are.

New System Makes Dancing Easy

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON—(NEA)—Attractive brunette Joan Benesh, who had been hired to do the dance routines for a London musical, was going crazy because she couldn't carry all the dance steps in her head.

She tried setting the dance numbers down on paper by means of diagrams and colored pins, in vain—the doodles only made matters worse. So her husband, Rudolf Benesh, a bearded painter, agreed to help her.

This happened 18 years ago, but the Benesh system of dance notation is only now beginning to be accepted by dancers all over the world. Not only that, but doctors are interested in the Benesh system as an aid in the diagnosis of nervous disorders.

From a medical viewpoint, the Benesh method of setting down body movement on paper in a kind of shorthand permits doctors to study in detail the involuntary movements associated with such disorders as Parkinson's disease.

The Benesh notation system can also be applied to time-motion studies, and to the recording of remedial exercises by physiotherapists. "What I have done," says Benesh, "is to invent an alphabet of movement that can be applied to any human activity."

But it is, undoubtedly, in the field of dance that the system is having its biggest impact. Now, thanks to the Benesh method, a choreographer can compose a ballet while riding downtown in a crowded subway; all he needs is pencil and paper to work out the intricate dance steps.

The notation system is also a boon to dancers, who can learn their parts from a printed score.

Rudolf Benesh's problem was to devise a shorthand means of recording in three-dimensional space the exact position of each part of the body for each note of a musical score.

In notating dance movement he uses a five-line staff which is printed immediately below the musical score. On this "human staff" he can indicate by means of symbols where the dancer is on stage, the direction he is facing, the position of his limbs, details of hands, head and feet, plus the direction of his movement.

Although no dancer, Benesh has lived among dancers all his life. His mother was a ballerina with Diaghilev and his wife was a solo dancer with the Royal Ballet. Benesh, himself, specialized in painting dancers until his notation system demanded his full attention.

The painter-inventor has coined the word "choreology" to describe the new science of the dance which his notation system has opened up.

Today Benesh-trained choreologists are working with ballet companies in Britain, Canada, Australia, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, Turkey and Israel. A number of Americans are being trained here at the Institute of Choreology, including Mrs. Gregg Mayer of New York, who studied with George Balanchine and who is a specialist in modern American dance.

Benesh notation is taught to all pupils of the Royal Ballet School here. And the Royal Ballet, itself, has three full-time choreologists. The practice is that whenever the Royal Ballet "exports" one of the ballets from its repertoire to a foreign company it sends a choreologist along with a score to teach the dancers their parts.

It had been this way always, it seemed to the boy; in his lifetime there had never been peace. But he felt better times would come. He was told the war was being won and he believed it.

Although only 19 when he joined the Communist army, he had eight years of schooling and was thus enlisted as a sergeant.

It was an honor, he felt. After all, what better career in these times than combat leadership?

They gave him a uniform, a salary (about 50 cents a month) and training. They gave him food, shelter and a submachine gun. He worked long and, when finished, had time only for sleep. But he did not mind for the war was being won and better times were ahead.

Ta Long, the sergeant, had been of this mind and this rank nearly two years by the time U.S. planes began to sweep over his homeland. It surprised him, but he said nothing. Anyway, he was told that no harm was being done.

He believed, of course. Americans. Aggressors.

Murderers and cowards. If the planes ever came to the sergeant's village, he would spit at them and laugh.

They came. They came and they roared and they whined... and they dropped bombs on the un-labeled. Bridges and installations were the targets, but civilians occupied both. Women wailed, children screamed, and the sergeant watched his pride and his people perish.

The planes came often after that.

Sometimes many, sometimes few, but always the same. One would hear them first, then see them, and finally feel the vibrations of their deadly droppings. There was only one defense—run.

And run they did; from every house, every shop, to the trails and roads leading to the safety of the mountains. They would say after each bombing, no harm has been done, the war was still being won.

But the sergeant saw differently. There was the lack of food, the rationing of clothing, the government classes, the political speeches, the daily discipline of living.

The bombings were more numerous, the suffering more horrible. And the good times, more distant than ever.

It was too much—too much war, too much sacrifice, too

Help for Vietnamese Wounded

SMILING THROUGH: Happy to be alive, two Vietnamese paraplegics, left, flash smiles from their wheelchairs at the Castle Point VA hospital while Nguyen Van Lan strums a folk song.

By ROGER DOUGHTY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BEACON, N.Y.—(NEA)—The man's first steps were uncertain. He walked in a stiff-legged, awkward manner, thankful he had his cumbersome equipment to cling to. It wasn't a long walk.

It wasn't even the first time the feat had been performed, but to the slow-moving man and the team that had made his accomplishment possible it was a minor miracle.

Who was this, an astronaut taking his first steps into space? No. Just a scrawny South Vietnamese soldier, a paraplegic who had been a litter case two months before.

Hanging onto a chair for support and shuffling cautiously on his brace-encased legs, he made his way down the uncommonly clean corridor of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Castle Point, just a few miles north of here.

To the doctors and nurses who helped this Vietnamese toward those first steps, he and 55 colleagues represent one phase of the U.S. commitment to mankind that is sadly overshadowed in daily reports of bullets, bloodshed and space shots.

They call it Operation Compassion at Castle Point. Dr. Howard Rusk, director of the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University and President Johnson's special medical envoy to South Viet Nam, started it all when he returned from a trip to that war-ravaged country and reported finding the paraplegics "slowly rotting to death."

Dr. Rusk remembers the scene this way: "I found these men in a ward in Viet Nam with no facilities to treat the great variety of medical problems they had. It was a one-time summer resort and it was the grimmest ward I ever saw. On my return to the United States I told the President that these men could be left there to die, or evacuated to be treated and live."

The evacuation plane was ready in three days.

And so, on Nov. 9 of last year, they came to Castle Point. Fifty-six paralyzed men who were suffering with bed sores and countless other complications. Some will never walk again, even with the aid of braces and crutches.

He also lists a few other don'ts that are money savers. For example, he recommends buying a stereo-FM receiver system, a relatively new development in the field. This puts the tuner and amplifier in the same system and can save the buyer up to $100.

Another important error to avoid is cutting costs on the speakers, no matter the amount you spend on the rest of the set. A pair of good speakers will cost a minimum of $140. Also ask the salesman to show you what is inside the speaker or tell you who the manufacturer is.

Beware of bargains or off-brand merchandise unless the store stands behind its sales. In checking speakers avoid "filled" systems—those that are filled with sand or fibers. This cuts out the midrange, the stereo expert explains, and emphasizes the treble and

Two physicians, four nurses and eight medical corpsmen came with the wounded soldiers. These are the people who have been working with some of the leading medical men from the Bronx VA hospital, specialists from New York and West Coast experts. They'll learn to use highly sophisticated techniques and equipment before returning to Saigon to establish Viet Nam's first rehabilitation center.

The soldiers being treated at Castle Point will also return to their homeland. They'll show other paraplegics what modern medicine can do to help them live useful lives.

Few speak English, but they'll tell you through interpreters, or in French, how they got here. The stories are much the same.

There's Lt. Huynh Quang Nhunog, a student at the University of Saigon who got tired of talking about the war and decided to do something about it. His war ended one day when his company was attacked by two battalions of Viet Cong. Lt. Nhunog, who caught a slug in the spine, is lucky to be alive and he admits it. But he'd enlist all over again if he could. "I feel it is my duty to the fatherland," he says simply.

Dinh Beo was hit during a skirmish in Quang Ngai, north of Saigon. He took a shot through the neck and waited for death for six hours. The bullet paralyzed Dinh Beo's left side. Dinh can walk a little now. He didn't think he'd ever get out of that jungle alive.

Hospital director Vincent W. Powers has this comment on his star boarders:

"The biggest asset these fellows have going for them is motivation. You don't have to do anything to cheer them up because they never need cheering up."

"There was a time, around World War I, when something like 80 to 90 per cent of all paraplegics died no matter what was done for them. The VA came to the forefront during World War II and developed many of the techniques used today to help these men regain their place in life."

"To break it down simply, we work with what the man has left to work with. We strengthen the upper half of his body and build up his chest and arm muscles to abnormal strength so he can pull himself around without the use of his legs. But the most important thing is attitude. These men are actually happy-go-lucky. I've never seen anything like it."

"We owe our lives to your people," one soldier said in sputtering English. "We will not forget."

A good set of headphones will cost $25 and can cover the 16- to 25,000-megacycle range. With these you can use smaller speakers but the quality will be more apparent, since the sound is only 1½ inches away from the ear.

Tattletale Footprint

Police, investigating a murder, found the bloody print of a bare foot on the victim's bathroom floor. This print eventually played a vital role in convicting the killer, by placing him—unmistakably—at the scene of the crime.

Similar use has been made, more often, of palm prints. And most often, of course, of fingerprints. What all three have in common is a highly individual set of markings, made by the pressure ridges that corrugate the skin.

There is nothing new, at least with regard to fingerprints, in the realization that the markings are distinctive. Various peoples of the world probably knew this even before the time of Christ.

lated that duplication would occur once in 64 billion prints.

But later studies call that far too cautious. Recently a fingerprint expert estimated that duplication is not likely to occur in 10,000 years. Up to now, of course, not a single duplication has ever been found.

Besides the virtue of individuality, prints also have the virtue of permanence. A person's print pattern is fully formed three months before his birth (Mark Twain called it a "natal autograph"), and remains unchanged until after his death. Although the print may vary in size, just as the person does, the pattern itself stays the same always.

So sophisticated is fingerprinting today that even a part of a print may be enough to establish an identification. As a rule, experts figure it is sufficient if the suspect's prints and the incriminating prints are alike at 12 points of the pattern.

But if they should differ at even a single point, then the message is equally clear:

This is positively not the right man.

GIs Find No Fun in Muddy V. Nam Area

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
 SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat forces have been poking at the northern fringe of the Mekong River delta, sloshing waist-deep through muddy expanses west of Saigon in search of the Viet Cong.

American paratroopers this month launched an operation that carried to the Plain of Reeds, the sometimes swamp, sometimes dust bowl, that pushes into Cambodia. It was wet and they got a taste of what it would be like to be fighting in the delta proper.

Despite this sampling, there is no indication of plans to move U.S. ground units into the delta itself at this time.

The delta is part of South Viet Nam's 4th Corps, the only part of the country where U.S. fighting forces are not based. Vietnamese troops, and their American advisers, wage war there against the Viet Cong.

U.S. officials repeatedly have said that the decision not to station American troops in the delta is based entirely on the military situation. They say politics has not entered into it, and that if there is a need for U.S. forces in the delta, they will be sent.

Even so, some informed speculation has persisted that it was considered politically wise to leave one of the four corps areas to the Vietnamese themselves.

The South Half of the Southeast Quarter (S $\frac{1}{2}$  SE $\frac{1}{4}$ ) of Section Twenty-three (23) and the North Half of the Northeast Quarter (N $\frac{1}{2}$  NE $\frac{1}{4}$ ) of Section Twenty-six (26) all in Township Eleven (11) South Range Twenty-seven (27) West, containing 160 acres more or less.

By order of this court made and entered herein on the 6th day of January, 1966, said petition will be heard by said court at 9:00 o'clock a.m., in the Court Room in the County Court-house in Hempstead County, Arkansas, in the City of Hope, Arkansas.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of said Court on this 7 day of January, 1966.

Mrs. J. D. Turnage, Clerk of the Probate Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas January 10, 17, 1966.

LEGAL NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that there has been filed in the office of the clerk of the Chancery Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas, a petition to confirm and quiet title of L. A. Foster in and to the following described lands in Hempstead County, Arkansas, to-wit:

The North Half of the Southeast Quarter (N $\frac{1}{2}$  SE $\frac{1}{4}$  SE $\frac{1}{4}$ ) of Section Seven (7), Township Twelve (12) South, Range Twenty-seven (27) West, containing 20 acres, more or less.

All persons claiming said lands or any interest therein, including but not limited to the above named Mary Jane Hopkins, Anna Bradley, Lorenzo Hopkins, and the unknown heirs of William Bradley, deceased, are hereby notified and warned to appear in said court on the 1st day of the March, 1966, term and show cause why the title to said lands should not be confirmed in the said L. A. Foster.

WITNESS my hand as such clerk, and the seal of said court on this 28 day of December, 1965.

BEFORE AND AFTER—Five-year-old Bobby Arpin of Cranston, R.I., is a spectacular example of the success of the March of Dimes rehabilitation program for children with birth defects. Born with seven birth defects, including a cleft palate and restricted movement of hip and knee, Bobby underwent oral surgery three years ago and then was placed in traction, left. Subsequent rehabilitation at the Providence, R.I., Hospital March of Dimes Center resulted in the agile, energetic Bobby at right. Doctors describe his progress as "fantastic."

OLD BEAUTY IS EXPENSIVE

GLOUCESTER, England (AP) — Medieval abbeys though beautiful are uncomfortable, inconvenient and expensive to keep up, says the Rt. Rev. Dvria Rushton, Roman Catholic Abbot of Prinknash Abbey, Gloucestershire, who wants to set up a new monastery building near his existing 16th Century abbey.

Objections have been raised by preservation societies and the Abbot claims that the resulting delays already will raise the cost to the Benedictines by 25 per cent. Now a public inquiry is being held to settle the issue.

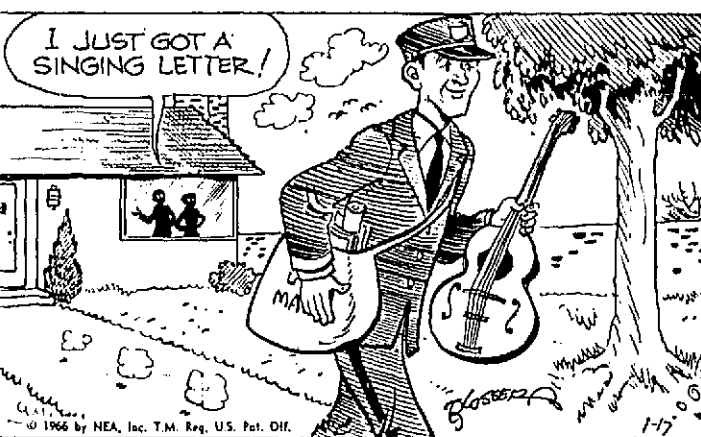

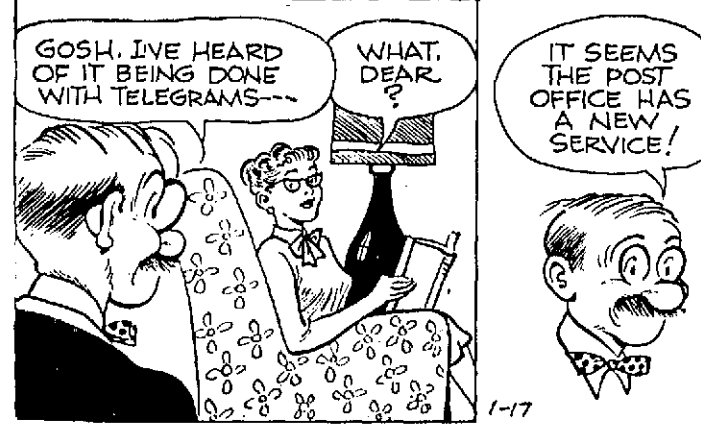

Though much of it is swampland or watery forest, it is the rice bowl of the Mekong. More than a third of South Viet Nam's 15 million people live there in only one-quarter of the country's land space.

The Viet Cong are believed to have about 45,000 men operating in the delta, about 7,000 of them hard-core troops well-armed and well-trained.

The Saigon regime maintains three divisions there. Some of the bloodiest clashes have involved Vietnamese ranger battalions, moved in by helicopters.

The delta is vastly different from other parts of South Viet Nam, but the war there is much the same as the war over the rest of the countryside — a standoff without the prospect of decisive military victory.

Mrs. Quillins Heads March by Mothers

"I'm a mother, and when I learned, as I did recently, that there are actually hundreds of thousands of babies dying and being born defective each year because of birth defects, I became concerned enough to do something about it."

That was the reason Mrs. Hil-da Quillins, of Hope, gave for ac-cepting the chairman ship of the March of Dimes County March of Dimes Mothers' March against birth defects.

She will coordinate the city-wide effort which will see hun-dreds of volunteers calling at area homes on Jan. 31 to leave educational material about the March of Dimes fight against birth defects and to accept con-tributions.

"I'm sure that many Ameri-can mothers find it difficult to believe such facts as these:

"Birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life.

"The United States lags be-hind 11 major nations in the pre-vention of infants deaths.

"At least 250,000 babies are born each year with serious birth defects.

"One-half to one-third of the mothers giving birth in the tax-supported hospitals of our ma-jor cities see a doctor for the first time when they are in labor.

This year, for the first time, the March of Dimes is sponsor-ing a nationwide public educa-tion program to encourage moth-ers to seek prenatal care which medical authorities as-sert can minimize the risks of prematurity and stillbirths, and reduce the possibility of defect-ive births.

"Also," she added, "the March of Dimes is expanding its birth defect center program which provides improved medi-cal care and treatment."

Mrs. Quillins said the progress will continue if the people of Hope will contribute generously when the Marching Mother calls on Jan. 31.

If all goes as expected, Weav-er, 58, will become the first Ne-gro before the committee for que-siro member of the Cabinet.

He was scheduled to appear along with Prof. Robert C. Wood, nominated by Johnson as undersecretary.

Committee members said they wanted to ask both men about their plans for dealing with massive problems con-fronting the nation's cities.

Weaver appeared certain to meet a friendlier reception than he did five years ago when President John F. Kennedy nominated him to head the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

For one thing, he has ap-peared before the group many times in the intervening period and has won its backing for housing legislation ever passed some of the most significant housing legislation ever passed by Congress.

In 1961, the Senate confirmed Weaver's nomination by voice vote after the committee had approved it by an 11-4 vote.

After he had signed the bill, Johnson set up a task force the department of political science at Massachusetts Insti-tute of Technology, to study the department's organization.

Hard Luck Story Two Papers Tops Grim Night Ahead

The season is closed for man against deer — but it's always open season for deer against automobiles.

Here's the prime hard-luck story of the new year:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baggett of Shreveport were in Hope for the weekend visiting Jo Beth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rettig of Diamond Cafeteria. Another car had scraped a fender on their Imperial automobile while in Shreveport, so in ordering the repair they gave the machine a brand new paint job.

But Sunday night on the way home to Shreveport, where Frank is a staffer with Butcher & Associates, advertising agency in the Slattery Building, they were ambushed at Midway. A deer jumped out of the night and smashed into their new paint job — breaking the radiator grill, one headlight, and damaging a fender.

Most of the time a deer wins in open season, but a car always comes out second best — whatever the season.

"Today we salute the Springdale Daily News and the Baxter Bulletin, which were declared over the weekend to be the 'most excellent' daily and weekly publications in the Arkansas Press Association's annual competition.

Both the Springdale daily and the Mountain Home weekly are printed by offset — this being their second year with the new process just now adopted by Hope Star.

Offset is an exacting, tedious, and expensive process requiring the junking of an entire newspaper plant; therefore each paper which makes this commitment has expressed an abiding faith in the future of its town and trade territory.

Today we salute Springdale Daily News and Baxter Bulletin not only for declaring their confidence in their towns but also for having been judged masters of the offset printing process.

The Star's staff hasn't mastered the offset process by any means — but we are coming long. Last Friday and Saturday we appeared on time, which is not bad for an outfit with only a week's experience.

But I have ominous news for you. The $64 question will be asked tonight. Tonight our big factory engineer who has been adjusting the new press and instructing our staff in its operation won't be here. Nor will he be here in time for publication Tuesday. Wesley Phillips was scheduled to get a new leased from Fairchild Graphic Equipment at Atlanta this week-end, and drove the old company vehicle back to Georgia Saturday. He will return to Hope Tuesday night for his final week of instructing our crew.

So our Billy Dan Jones will be "on his own" today and Tuesday when he tackles that new and unfamiliar monster in the press-room. Our prayers go with him. . . .

AEA to Try to Reduce Districts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas education leaders are proposing a reorganization program which would reduce the number of school districts in the state from 407 to 257.

Forrest Rozzell, head of the Arkansas Education Association, said the AEA and three other groups had agreed to recommend initiation of an act which would dissolve all districts with less than 400 pupils. The act would also provide for dissolution of districts which have less than 400 pupils and prevent formation of any new districts with less than the number of enumerates.

The four groups represented at a meeting on the reorganization plan this month were the AEA, the State Department of Education, the Arkansas Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Arkansas School Boards Association.

Rozzell said it was understood the meeting that representatives of the PTA and the school boards were taking part in individuals and had not committed their organizations to the recommendation.

Legality of Voting Act Before Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—South Carolina and five sister Southern states go before the Supreme Court today to challenge the constitutionality of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The six states contend that the act, under which nearly 250,000 Negroes have registered in the seven states of the South, is an unreasonable and unfair use of federal power.

A tissue is whether the federal government has the constitutional authority to abolish literacy and other voter qualification tests which had been required by some states.

Arguing alongside South Carolina were to be legal officers from Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Virginia. North Carolina, also affected by the Voting Rights Act, is not taking part.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, who celebrates his 44th birthday today, was to defend the legality of the five-month-old law in his first Supreme Court argument since he became the government's top legal officer last year.

Lawyers from New Jersey and Massachusetts — the latter representing 18 Northern and Western states — were to support the government.

The high court has allotted eight hours for hearing the case, which South Carolina brought directly in the Supreme Court instead of going through the lower federal courts. Arguments are expected to continue at least through Tuesday.

David W. Robinson II, special counsel for South Carolina, was expected to contend that the Voting Rights Act is not an appropriate means of enforcing the 15th Amendment which bars discrimination against voters and gives Congress the power to enact appropriate enforcement legislation.

The six states also contend that the act makes a finding of past discrimination with no judicial proceedings and that its application by a mathematical formula to a handful of states — Alaska, Arizona and the seven in the South — invidiously sets them apart from other states.

In order to escape from jurisdiction of the act, under which federal voter registrars can be dispatched to counties where half the eligible voters are not registered or did not vote last year, a state must prove to a federal court that it does not discriminate.

Sutton Seeks Re-election as Assessor

"It has been an honor and a privilege to serve you in this office, and I earnestly solicit your vote and support on behalf of my candidacy for re-election to the office of Hempstead County Tax Assessor."

Gary Crane added 18 points and John Dickson 14 points and 14 rebounds as the Tribe held a 50-21 edge off the boards.

In Life It Appears Everything Is Simply and Endlessly Repeated Time and Again

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Life is a kind of shaggy dog joke without a punchline," said the man with the brown beard.

"There is no final solution or conclusion. As the astronomers say, the universe is infinite. Everything is simply endlessly repeated."

But although life may be inconclusive it is far from unrewarding to the man with the brown beard—British author John Fowles. At 39, Fowles, former teacher at a girls' school in London, has turned the corner of literary success.

His first published novel, "The Collector," the creepy story of a young man who captures a girl as if she were a butterfly and keeps her prisoner until she dies, was made into a successful film.

His latest novel, which has an even eerier treatment of the man playing God theme, is the January selection of the Literary Guild. Fowles also has sold the paperback rights for $125,000 and is doing a movie script of it.

It is his qualities as a loner and a mystic that won Fowles the praise of critics. But he is a companionable man across a tea table, and his hazel eyes light up as he talks about his work.

"All writers are sick people. We have a compulsive need to have phantasy worlds around us—to create such worlds in which we can live," he says.

"I write by instinct. If I don't feel like writing, I don't. If I do, I write as long as my body can stand it—15 or 16 hours a day. I revise and revise and revise, and occasionally throw whole chapters away."

To Fowles, the greatest problem in life is individual freedom.

"What I write about is whether people should be freer than they are, and the extent to which freedom can be a dangerous, two-edged weapon," he says.

"It is hard to generalize about how much freedom one should have. I'd say you have plenty of freedom over here. France could do with a lot more. So could Russia."

"I think freedom is necessary for the race, but not for all individuals."

"Until recently, I should have said the greatest threat to freedom was political creeds. Now I think it is the machine—including the modern city."

"The city destroys individuality requires people to function predictably. People in the country are more human."

New Nat'l Distributor for Meyers

Little Rock — Charles T. Meyer, Jr., president of Meyer's Bakeries with general offices in Little Rock, announced that Arch Halton of Little Rock would be the national distributor for a new Meyer's product, Meyer's Frozen Hot Bread.

Meyer said that the product was the same as the regular bake and serve, pull-apart hot bread which was first put on the Little Rock market in September, 1964. The only difference is that the new product is frozen.

The frozen bread has recently been test-marketed. Meyer said, and nationwide distribution plans would be finalized shortly by Halton.

Each package contains two dozen half-pound loaves. The new product will be available soon in Arkansas, Halton said. At present, Meyer's markets its products in a 30-state distribution area. The company has plants at Little Rock, Hope and Blytheville and is in its 54th baking year.

Mass of Arctic Air Hits U. S. Midsection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A huge mass of Arctic air hit the country's midsection today and spread bitter cold temperatures from the Rockies to New England and deep into the South.

The Pacific coast region, southern portions of Texas and Florida and a thin band along the Gulf Coast were about the only areas with temperatures above freezing.

Thesharpes chill was in the northern Plains, where it was 27 below zero at Bismarck, N.D., and -19 at Huron, S.D. But the far-ranging cold snap also pushed the mercury down to 6 above zero at Richmond, Va., and 18 at Asheville, N.C.

Southern California was still experiencing strong winds after Sunday's buffeting of up to 80 miles an hour. Some $250,000 in damage was reportedly inflicted on boats at Avalon Harbor on Catalina Island, some 20 miles off Los Angeles.

One man was missing and presumed drowned in the aftermath of 65-mile-an-hour winds and 18-to-20-foot waves that struck Avalon Harbor. Six persons were injured as 14 pleasure boats were smashed.

Meanwhile, from 2 to 9 inches of snow covered much of central and southwest Virginia, with some highways hazardous with ice. Temperatures dropped to below freezing over the entire state.

Upstate New York had temperatures near zero and bitter cold in New England was intensified by strong winds.

Snow and cold air spread into New Mexico with 1 inch of snow reported at Santa Fe and 2 inches at Tucumcari. Tire chains were needed on Raton Pass leading into Colorado and more snow was expected across the center of the state.

Thick fog in parts of Seattle hampered air traffic at the Seattle-Tacoma Airport and Boeing Field.

All Around Town

Back in September last year, Emmett Maum, Commercial Appeal writer, received a postcard from a friend showing the inside of one of the rooms at Perry's Congress Motor Hotel, at Perrytown. . . he wrote Mr. Campbell for data on the room, which was promptly sent. . . Last week Mr. Campbell received a copy of Mr. Maum's column "A Look at Lumber", and it had the following to say about the local court: "Attractive Bricks California Redwood made into 'wood bricks' is proving a most attractive feature of commercial buildings, homes, cabins, planters, fences, an dividers. An example of its use is seen at Perry's Motor Hotel, Perrytown Ark. . . just east of Hope, owned by Perry Campbell. . . This wood is on both inside partitions and outside walls, and Mr. Campbell said the wood is in excellent conditions after two years of installation. . . We have received many compliments on this unusual type of building material," he said, "and it has increased our motel business by far. . . The Per Wood Bricks used in Mr. Campbell's motel are made by Pinkham Enterprises, Inc., Wichita, Kansas.

The charge in the court news against William L. Crain was improper muffled and not disturbing the peace as listed. Members of the Leslie Legion Auxiliary, are especially urged to attend the meeting on Tuesday night, January 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Glen L. Williams, as there will be a guest speaker, using the topic "National security."

New Trial in Manslaughter Case Ordered

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today ordered a new trial for a Hot Spring County man convicted of voluntary manslaughter after the courtroom was cleared because of an altercation in the hall.

The Attorney for the defendant, James Sirratt, objected to clearing the courtroom and argued that it violated Sirratt's constitutional right to a public trial. The Supreme Court agreed, remarking that it had not heard of a case in which a courtroom had been cleared because of a disturbance in the hall.

The opinion by Chief Justice Carleton Harris ordered a new trial for Sirratt, who originally was charged with second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Geraldine. The shooting took place at the Sirratt home near Malvern Aug. 4, 1964.

The Supreme Court affirmed a Phillips Circuit Court ruling that Verna Gwynn, who died of typhoid while she was an employee of the Helena Hospital, was not entitled to Workmen's Compensation benefits. The Circuit Court had affirmed the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

The woman, a laundry employee, died Feb. 26, 1963. A suit was filed against the hospital in behalf of her estate, contending she contracted the disease on the job.

The Supreme Court said the evidence indicated the woman died of a type of typhoid known as "Salmonella Group D" and that there had never a case of this type of typhoid in the hospital.

Sebastian Circuit Court was affirmed in a ruling that the State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. did not have to pay Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Cox $335 for a wall-to-wall carpet destroyed in a fire.

U.S. Orders 78 Hour Cease Fire in Viet Nam War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, today ordered all American troops to cease firing for 78 hours starting at noon Thursday in observance of the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday, Tet.

Westmoreland's order seconded the decision of the South Vietnamese government to halt fighting during the national celebration. Similar instructions went to South Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops fighting alongside the Vietnamese and Americans.

The truce more than doubles the 30-hour cease-fire observed by Allied forces during the Christmas holiday. But it falls 18 hours short of the Tet truce proclaimed by the Viet Cong. They have promised not to attack from 11 p.m. Wednesday to 11 p.m. Sunday, a total of four days.

Westmoreland ordered a cease-fire from noon Thursday to 6 p.m. Sunday. It was assumed the Allies agreed on different hours to avoid giving the impression they were simply reacting to the Communist proposal.

Westmoreland's order said: "All U.S. forces in the republic will not fire at or on the enemy except in self defense."

There was no sign in the Saigon sector of any letup in fighting before the holiday, although elsewhere in the country military activities continued at a slow pace.

In a lightning stroke, a Viet Cong company attacked a government infantry and armor school at Thu Duc 10 miles north of Saigon at 1 a.m. While one part of the guerrilla force fired two mortar shells as a diversion, another hit part of the compound with automatic weapons.

The guerrillas pierced the barbed wire of the officer's candidate school and raked the billets, killing five wives and three children of Vietnamese officer candidates in their beds. Three other children were wounded.

Armored troops fought back and killed 10 of the Viet Cong, a government spokesman said. These bodies were left behind, but the fleeing Viet Cong were seen to be carrying other dead or wounded.

One Viet Cong was captured. Twenty-six civilians were killed and four were wounded when a busload of civilians hit a Viet Cong mine on the road from Moc Hoa to Cai Lay, near Kien Thuan, 35 miles south of the capital.

Northwest of Saigon, a Viet Cong attack on a U.S. troop convoy backfired. Supported by planes roaring in over the trees, the Americans turned the bitter fight 20 miles northwest of Saigon into a drubbing for the guerrillas.

Waterway Tolls to Be Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Proposed federal legislation to collect tolls from users of the nation's waterways will be outlined to members of the transportation industry at a conference here Wednesday.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be the Florida Secretary of State, Tom Adams, who is president of the National Waterways Conference. The proposed legislation will be explained by Garth Whipple of Russellville, president of the Arkansas Basin Association.

Girl Escapes When Runaway Is Trapped

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A 10-year-old girl whose saddle horse bolted down a railroad track escaped death when the animal caught its leg between two cross ties on a trestle and hung suspended 25 feet above a creek.

Margaret Bobo said she climbed up the horse's body Sunday and out of danger. She apparently was uninjured.

Police shot the pet horse, named "Star," after halting a freight train 300 yards from the trestle where the animal was hanging.

French May Let Britain in Market

By NEL SI-15

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Common Market nations prepared to meet today amid expectation that France would offer to admit Britain to the European Economic Community in exchange for retention of the requirement that all major decisions by the group be unanimous.

France is ending a six-month boycott of Common Market negotiations with the other members — West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The French proposal was likely to meet stiff opposition. The other five countries say they are determined not to modify the Rome Treaty, the Common Market's constitution, for a vague French promise to admit Britain.

The five believe that France, which blackballed Britain three years ago, will press hard to keep its veto before turning the vague promise into a concrete invitation for Britain to join.
